IN TOUCH.

If you've been looking for a no-fuss phone, you've found it.

The Tremolo.

An all new, all press-button Inphone, exclusive to British Telecom, that's all set to become Britain's favourite phone.

Its popularity lies in its simplicity. No fancy gadgets or complex hi-tech wizardry. Instead, a reliable, compact and attractive Inphone that's easy to use and comfortable to hold.

No hi-tech means no high price. But the low-cost Tremolo does offer a number of features that are extremely useful to phone users. Like a last number redial button that lets you redial engaged numbers at the press of a button.

A secrecy button, so that you can talk to someone else in the room without being heard by the other party.

And a hi-low volume control on the tone caller—so it's only as intrusive as you need it to be.

For wearers of post-aural hearing aids, the incorporated inductive coupler improves the clarity of incoming speech. The buttons are appreciably larger than most, too, for fast and accurate dialling.

IN TONE.

Available in almond, slate blue or biscuit and with a distinctive matt finish, the Tremolo will blend in with any decor. It is a compact and unobtrusive Inphone that, because it requires no special bracket, looks especially streamlined when wall-mounted.

INPHONE.™

Tremolo is fitted with the new style Inphone plugs which fit into special Inphone sockets. If your home is still fitted with the old junction box, British Telecom will be pleased to install Inphone sockets, virtually anywhere you want, quickly and at a reasonable cost.

Like all Inphones, Tremolo is engineered to the highest standards and is fully tested and approved for connection to the British Telecom network.

We do our best to supply our customers with the apparatus they ask for, but we may have to provide apparatus which does not accord exactly with the descriptions, illustrations and shades of colours shown in this leaflet.

Tremolo is a Registered Trade Mark of British Telecom. Inphone is a Trade Mark of British Telecom.
