IN SHAPE.

Slimtel is the one-piece Inphone.

A uniquely shaped slimline phone with all its functions ingeniously self-contained in one elegant unit—all press-button for fast accurate dialling.

It's compact and complete, requiring no cradle or base unit; so you can use it on a table, sideboard or shelf—in fact any level surface.

To dial, just pick up and press out the number. Or you can leave it flat, flick the easy dial switch and tap out the digits with one finger.

Other clever features include a memory that stores the last number called and re-dials it at the touch of a button. So if a number is constantly engaged simply press the LR button and Slimtel will try again automatically.

There's also a discreet 'silence' button for confidentiality: just press the 'S' button to cut out the microphone, allowing you to speak to someone else in the room without being heard by the person on the other end of the phone.

Slimtel is great value too, remarkably priced for its many advanced features.

And when it comes to mobility Slimtel really moves with the times.

It's fitted with a new Inphone plug to be used with the new style sockets which can be quickly and easily fitted by British Telecom almost anywhere you'd like around the home—and at a reasonable price too.

IN STYLE.

Slimtel looks stylish in every setting.

It's available in off-white with an optional wall bracket, ideal for kitchen, hall or study.
