

Amplifying telephone handset

When you use the telephone you should be able to hear clearly. If you cannot you become frustrated, may annoy the person at the other end, and get involved in longer—and more costly calls than are necessary.

Our amplifying telephone may meet your particular need: You can increase the volume of received speech to suit yourself. A small amplifier is concealed in the handset and controlled by a wheel set in the side of the earpiece. No special power supply is needed, and you can use the handset without the amplifier if you wish.

The amplifying handset is available in black, grey and light ivory.
