Optional facilities for telex users

Automatic Transmission Shortens duration of calls

Teleprinters are available which will reproduce and transmit messages previously prepared on punched paper tape.

The punched paper tape is prepared with the teleprinter in local with the tape perforator switched on. The tape is punched as the message is typed and accuracy is checked from the printed page copy. Errors on the tape can be corrected. The tape bearing the message is then put into the tape-transmitter and the call set up. The message can be transmitted automatically at the maximum speed of the teleprinter, about 66 words per minute.

Automatic transmission shortens the duration of a call. The message can be checked while being transmitted. The tape can be used to produce additional copies in local, or transmitted more than once if additional copies are required at the distant end, or are to be sent to more than one location.

Card Callmaker Dials Telex numbers for you

How it works.

The Card Callmaker is a dialling instrument with unlimited capacity. It is a neat, moulded unit with storage space in the top for about 30 cards. Each telex number is punched and stored on an individual plastic card which has space for writing in the name of the company concerned. To make a call, your telex operator presses the dial button in the usual way, waits for the green light, and slots in the card bearing the number wanted. The number is dialled automatically, and the card falls into the tray below, ready to be filed away. Result . . . the risk of error is greatly reduced, valuable time is saved, and the tedium of dialling the same numbers over and over again is gone for ever.

Your telex can still be used in the normal way to dial numbers not stored on cards.

Please note that the Card Callmaker cannot be used for intercontinental calls where numbers are obtained using the dial AND the teleprinter keyboard.

Call Unit Printout Makes costing easy

If it would help you to know, immediately and accurately, how much a telex call has cost you, you can now have the total units used on each U.K., Continental and North African call you originate automatically printed out at the end of each telex message. It is then a simple matter to calculate the cost of each message. Multiply the numbers of units used by the current unit charge.

Hotels which encourage residents to make telex calls, Chambers of Commerce with permission to offer sharing facilities, in fact any organisation which needs to apportion costs, will benefit.

Call Unit Printout is especially useful for calculating over a period the cost of communicating with particular clients. Please note that calls dialled to destinations other than U.K., Europe and North Africa, or calls connected by the operator, are excluded.

General Information

Telegrams.

Inland and International telegrams can be sent by telex to the Post Office Inland and International Telegraph Service. No charge is made for the telex call to the office and normal telegraph rates apply for the message.

International call charges.

All direct-dialled calls to North African and European countries are charged in metered units. The amount of time bought varies with the country called. Calls beyond Europe, most of which can be dialled, are charged in one minute periods with a one minute minimum charge. A small proportion of overseas telex calls have to be connected through the International Telex Switchboard. These are charged for a three minute minimum period, and for one minute intervals thereafter. Other information, including the details of the call charges to all overseas countries to which telex service is available, is given in the preface of the Telex Directory.
