

The Melody

Hands down,
a superior
loudspeaking
unit

British TELECOM

Hello to the Melody means Goodbye to holding on.

The Melody is an entirely new loudspeaking unit, developed to complement today's telephones – in versatility, reliability and appearance. Suitable for home or business use, the Melody has a place wherever holding a receiver hinders holding a conversation, or where group speaking is required.

Modular in design, initially as an accessory for the Ambassador, the Melody performs equally well with most other telephones. The unit is intended for easy connection to the new British Telecom Phone Sockets and, thanks to its Keats adaptor termination, no separate power supply or socket is needed, and the unit is as mobile as any plug-in telephone.

Please note

We do our best to supply our customers with the apparatus they ask for but we may have to provide apparatus which does not accord exactly with the descriptions and illustrations in this leaflet.

The Melody incorporates an on/off switch for optional use, a 'mute' button which bars outgoing speech, and a sliding volume control switch. Voice reproduction is faithful at every level.

Available in mid-grey or dark brown, the Melody is one of a range of modern telephones and accessories from British Telecom aimed at improving your communications. As with all British Telecom products, this advanced loudspeaking unit has been extensively researched, made from quality materials, and thoroughly tested. Under normal conditions of use it will give long and reliable service.
